It is important for us to have a complete picture of you because:

- Accurate and up to date information assists us in providing patients with the right care
- Full information will be readily available in the event you need to see another doctor, or are referred to a specialist or another part of the NHS
- Accurate and up to date information assists us in providing staff with the information and training required to carry out their role in the Organisation
- It helps the NHS prepare statistics on its performance and audits of its services, and enables better monitoring of public spending and planning and management of the health service.
- It improves the Training of NHS healthcare professionals and employees, and assists the NHS in conducting its Research and Development activities

What Website information do we collect ?

Information about your computer hardware and software is automatically collected. This information can include your IP address, browser type, domain names, access times and referring website addresses. This information is used for the operation of the service, to maintain the quality and provide general statistics regarding use of the SHS websites.

The Organisation's websites will disclose your personal information without notice, only if required to do so by law or in the good faith belief that such action is necessary to: (a) conform to the edicts of the law or comply with legal process served on Symphony Healthcare Services or the sites; (b) protect and defend the rights or property of Symphony Healthcare Services; and, (c) act under exigent circumstances to protect the personal safety of users of Symphony Healthcare Services, or the public.

Please keep in mind that if you directly disclose personally identifiable information or personally sensitive data through The Organisation's public message boards, this information may be collected and used by others. Note: The Organisation does not read any of your private online communications.

Links to other websites: The Organisation encourages you to review the privacy statements of websites you choose to link to from our site so that you can understand how those Web sites collect, use and share your information. The Organisation is not responsible for the privacy statements or other content on Web sites outside The Organisation's family of Web sites. Therefore we cannot be responsible for the protection and privacy of any information which you provide whilst visiting such sites enable you to give us feedback about the web site, to give feedback about specific activity; to give feedback as part of a formal consultation; to take part in fundraising activities or giving; to register for an event or activity; to register interest as a member or volunteer.

Where we are asking for personal information we will always ask you to acknowledge acceptance and understanding of this Fair Collection/Privacy Notice, before the electronic form can be submitted.

Direct Marketing: The Organisation may also use your personally identifiable information to inform you of other products or services available from Symphony Healthcare Services and its affiliates. The Organisation may also contact you via surveys to conduct research about your opinion of current services or of potential new services that may be offered. The Organisation keeps track of the websites and pages our patients visit in order to determine which of our services are the most popular. This data is used to deliver customised content and advertising within to customers whose behavior indicates that they are interested in a particular subject area. You have the right to refuse /withdraw consent to direct marketing at any time.

Use of Cookies: The Organisation website uses "cookies" to help you personalise your online experience. A cookie is a text file that is placed on your hard disk by a web page server. Cookies cannot be used to run programs or deliver viruses to your computer. Cookies are uniquely assigned to you, and can only be read by a web server in the domain that issued the cookie to you.

One of the primary purposes of cookies is to provide a convenience feature to save you time. The purpose of a cookie is to tell the Web server that you have returned to a specific page. For example, if you personalise pages, or register with Symphony Healthcare Services site or services, a cookie helps to recall your specific information on subsequent visits. This simplifies the process of recording your personal information, such as billing addresses, shipping addresses, and so on. When you return to the same Symphony Healthcare Services Web site, the information you previously provided can be retrieved, so you can easily use the features that you customised.

You have the ability to accept or decline cookies. Most web browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies if you prefer. If you choose to decline cookies, you may not be able to fully experience the interactive features of The Organisation's services or websites you visit.

You can read more about the cookies used by The Organisation's web sites by clicking on the Cookie link at the bottom of the web page. For more details visit Yeovil District Hospital NHS Foundation Trust website's terms of use page, and our privacy and cookies policy page.

What do we do with your personal information?

Your records are used to directly, manage and deliver healthcare to you to ensure that:

- Staff involved in your care have accurate and up to date information to assess and advise on the most appropriate care for you.

- Staff have information they need to be able to assess and improve the quality and type of care you receive.
- Appropriate information is available, should you see another healthcare professional, or are referred to a specialist or another part of the NHS, social care or health provider.

The personal information we collect about you may also be used to:

- Remind you about your appointments and send you relevant correspondence.
- Review the care we provide to ensure it is of the highest standard and quality through audits or service improvements.
- Support funding of your care with commissioning organisations.
- Preparing NHS performance statistics required by The Department of Health or other regulatory bodies.
- Assist in training and education of healthcare professionals.
- Report and investigate complaints, claims and untoward incidents, report events to the appropriate authorities when required to do so by law.
- Review your suitability for research studies or clinical trials.
- Contact you with regards to patient satisfaction surveys relating to services you have used within The Organisation, so as to further improve our services to patients in future

Where possible, we will always look to minimize and anonymise/pseudonymise your personal information so as to protect patient confidentiality, unless there is a legal basis to act otherwise.

Who do we share your information with and why?

The Organisation may share your information for health purposes with other NHS organisations, eg health authorities, NHS Organisations, acute providers, ambulance services, NHS England, Public Health England and other NHS common services agencies. We will also share information with other parts of the NHS and those contracted to provide services to the NHS in order to support your healthcare needs.

For your benefit, we may also need to share information from your health records with non-NHS organisations, from which you are also receiving care, such as social services or private healthcare organisations. However, we will not disclose any health information to third parties without your explicit consent, unless there are exceptional circumstances, such as when the health or safety of others is at risk or where the law requires it.

We may also be asked to share basic information about you, such as your name and address, which does not include sensitive information from your health records. Generally, we would do this to assist them to carry out their statutory duties. In these circumstances, where it is not practical to obtain your explicit consent, we are informing you through this notice, which is referred to as a Fair Processing Notice, under the Data Protection Act.

Where patient information is shared with or processed by other non-NHS organisations, an information sharing agreement is drawn up to ensure information is managed in a way that complies with relevant legislation. These non-NHS organisations may include, but are not restricted to: social services, education services, local authorities, the Police, voluntary sector providers and private sector providers.

Symphony Healthcare Services does not sell, rent or lease its customer lists to third parties. From time to time we may contact you on behalf of external business partners about a particular offering that may be of interest to you. In those cases, your unique personally identifiable information (e-mail, name, address, telephone number) is not transferred to the third party. In addition, Symphony Healthcare Services may share data with Organisational partners to help us perform statistical analysis, send you email or postal mail, provide customer support, or arrange for deliveries. All such third parties are prohibited from using your personal information except to provide these services to Symphony Healthcare Services, and they are required to maintain the confidentiality of your information under data processing agreements. Information may sometimes be shared with system suppliers for the purposes of maintenance.

There are occasions where the Organisation is required by law to share information provided to us with other bodies responsible for auditing or administering public funds, in order to prevent and detect fraud. There may also be situations where we are under a duty to share your information, due to a legal requirement. This includes, but is not limited to, disclosure under a court order, sharing with the Care Quality Commission for inspection purposes, the police for the prevention or detection of crime or where there is an overriding public interest to prevent abuse or serious harm to others and other public bodies (e.g. HMRC for the misuse of public funds in order to prevent and detect fraud).

For any request to transfer your data internationally outside the UK/EU, we will make sure that an adequate level of protection is satisfied before the transfer.

The Organisation is required to protect your personal information, inform you of how your personal information will be used, and allow you to decide if and how your personal information can be shared. Personal information you provide to the Organisation in confidence will only be used for the purposes explained to you and to which you have consented. Unless, there are exceptional circumstances, such as when the health or safety of others is at risk, where the law requires it or there is an overriding public interest to do so. Where there is cause to do this, the Organisation will always do its best to notify you of this sharing.

How we maintain your records

Your personal information is held in both paper and electronic forms for specified periods of time as set out in the NHS Records Management Code of Practice for Health and Social Care and National Archives Requirements.

We hold and process your information in accordance with the Data Protection Act 2018 (subject to Parliamentary approval) as amended by the GDPR 2016, as explained above. In addition, everyone working for the NHS must comply with the Common Law Duty of Confidentiality and various national and professional standards and requirements.

We have a duty to:

- maintain full and accurate records of the care we provide to you
- keep records about you confidential and secure
- provide information in a format that is accessible to you

The Organisation is committed to securing your personal information from unauthorised access, use or disclosure, and secures it on computer servers in a controlled, secure environment, protected from unauthorised access, use or disclosure.

All our records are destroyed in accordance with the NHS Retention Schedule, which sets out the appropriate length of time each type of NHS records is retained. We do not keep your records for longer than necessary.

All records are destroyed confidentially once their retention period has been met, and the Organisation has made the decision that the records are no longer required.

What are your rights?

If we need to use your personal information for any reasons beyond those stated above, we will discuss this with you and ask for your explicit consent. The Data Protection Act 2018 (subject to parliamentary approval) gives you certain rights, including the right to:

- Request access to the personal data we hold about you, eg in health records. The way in which you can access your own health records is further explained by contacting your practice or central team.
- Request the correction of inaccurate or incomplete information recorded in our health records, subject to certain safeguards. Again accessed via the Practice or central team.
- Refuse or withdraw consent to the sharing of your health records: Under the Data Protection Act 2018 (subject to parliamentary approval), we are authorised to process, ie. share, your health records ‘for the management of healthcare systems and services’. Your consent will only be required if we intend to share your health records beyond these purposes, as explained above (e.g. research). Any consent form you will be asked to sign will give you the option to ‘refuse’ consent and will explain how you can ‘withdraw’ any given consent at a later time. The consent form will also warn you about the possible consequences of such refusal/withdrawal.
- Request your personal information to be transferred to other providers on certain occasions.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Object to the use of your personal information: In certain circumstances you may also have the right to 'object' to the processing (ie. sharing) of your information where the sharing would be for a purpose beyond your care and treatment (eg. as part of a local/regional data sharing initiative). This so called "National Data Opt-out" initiative, is set to commence in March 2018, with Patients and the public able to use the system from 25 May 2018, and the program concluding in March 2020. Further information can be found on the following website: https://digital.nhs.uk/national-data-opt-out ▪ We will always try to keep your information confidential, where possible use minimization and pseudonymisation and encryption in communication, and only share information when absolutely necessary. If you wish to raise a complaint on how we have handled your personal data, you can contact our Data Protection Officer who will investigate the matter.
